

Directions to Ohana Camp

Ohana Camp is located about 15 minutes from the Thetford exit of Interstate 91 (exit #14, at milepost 84). Here's the best way to get to the camp from I-91, then how to get back again to I-91 (not that we think you're directionally challenged—it's just that making your way on rural back roads can be a little tricky):

To the Camp:

From the Thetford exit of I-91, turn west on Route 113 (left if you were heading north on I-91 North, right if you were heading south).

Go 6.3 miles and turn right, just after Baker's General Store and Peabody Library (both on the right), onto Route 244.

Go 0.4 mile and bear right, just after the Thetford Volunteer Fire Department (on the right) and just before the small white church (on the left), onto Robinson Hill Road.

Go 1.7 miles (Lake Fairlee will be on your left at about the half-mile point) to the stop sign at the top of the hill and turn left onto Quinibeck Road.

Go 0.3 mile and turn left, just past the weathered barn (on the right), between the stone gateposts into the camp. If you've reserved a cabin at the camp, stop and check in at the office—the first building on the right. If you're coming for the wedding events, bear right past the office and park in the field off to the right.

From the Camp:

Turn right out of the camp gateposts.

Go 0.3 mile and turn right onto Robinson Hill Road.

Go 1.7 miles and turn left onto Route 244.

Go 0.4 mile and turn left onto Route 113.

Go 6.3 miles and you'll be back at I-91.

Remember: Do NOT use MapQuest to get to the camp!!!!
